The Reese-White Wedding at Universalist Church Last Night Was a Brilliant Affair.

One of the most beautiful of autumn social events, a chrysanthemum wedding, was solemnized last night at the First Universalist church, of Pensacola, when Mr. Eugene L. Reese and Miss Beatrice Zulah White were joined in the holy bonds of marriage, Rev. Charles P. Hall officiating.

At the hour of 7:30 approached, guests who had been bidden to the interesting affair began thronging the church, which, in direct compliment to the love and togetherness in which both young people are held in the city, was soon filled to its utmost capacity by those who had come to witness an event of heart interest to each and every person who had ever come in contact with the attractive young couple.

The church was never more beautiful. Great banks of chrysanthemums, in their delicate coloring, nodded from arrangements which were indeed charming. The air, in fact, was permeated with the breath of these sweet symbols of the autumn, direct from Flowerland itself, and the suggestion of gorgeous autumn herself could not have been more perfect.

When the hour of the ceremony had arrived, and the last guest had been ushered into the hushed church, the beautiful voice of Miss Missouri Cawthon, never more beautiful in its rich rounded tones than last night, began filling the room with sweet melody. Miss Cawthon's selection was charmingly appropriate to the occasion, being "Oh, Fair, O Sweet and Holy."

The bride party then appeared, all eyes being turned on the lovely bride and her dainty attendants. Miss White was gowned in white satin lacedown, a la princess, and made entrancing. Fashioned upon the lines of the sweeping simple lines, the costume was strikingly handsome, and served only to enhance her blonde loveliness. She carried chrysanthemums, her veil being caught with a beautiful diamond ornament.

Miss Olga White, the charming sister of the bride, was the maid of honor. She was lovely in white silk, made effective with rich embroidered trimmings. Her bouquet was of pink chrysanthemums. Miss Minnie Russell, who served as bridesmaid, was most becomingly gowned in a white organdy over blue silk, and carried pink chrysanthemums.

Mr. Reese was attended by Mr. James Van Ausdale as groomsmen, and Mr. Malcolm E. White, as best man. Little Miss Barbara Hoffman, fluff and sweet in white, proved a dainty little flower girl, as she walked slightly ahead of the party, strewn ing flowers from a beautifully fashioned basket in the path of the lovely bride. Carroll Hoffman, carrying a white satin pillow, upon which rested the ring, was ring-bearer.

As the party advanced, Seel's orchestra added another unusual and pretty touch to this most artistic of weddings, in the rendition of Mendelssohn's wedding march. Rev. Hall met the procession at the altar, where, with the soft sweet strains of a violin solo rendered by Miss Lillian Jacoby, the word of God was spoken in the calm and beauty which had cast its spell like magic over the holy scene, and two lives had been joined together for one and for all time.

Immediately after the ceremony, the guests repaired to the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. E. L. White, at 802 East Blount street, where, from 8:15 until 10 o'clock the young couple received the congratulations of their many friends. The home had been beautifully decorated in honor of the event, the chrysanthemum effect being still in evidence. One room was entirely in white and green, another a combination of the great pink blossoms with their accompanying foliage, a third being beautiful in a blaze of gorgeous yellow flowers. Ice cream and cake were served. Many beautiful gifts were viewed, many of which had been received from abroad.

Mr. and Mrs. Reese, who left last night for New Orleans for a ten days honeymoon trip, will be at home at the corner of Eighth and Twelfth streets upon their return.

The bride is one of Pensacola's loveliest and most talented young women. Since her early girlhood she has been prominently connected with local musical and dramatic circles, having been regarded as a leader in all with which she has been identified, her enterprise and her charming personality, in fact, having served to place her among the foremost of Pensacola's best loved young women.

The groom, who is a member of the firm of Watson, Parker & Reese, has long been regarded as one of the first young men of Pensacola, where he has been popular in the social and business world alike.

PRETTY CHRISTENING AT ST. MICHAEL'S.
Little Miss Margaret Genova Brown was christened yesterday morning at St. Michael's church, Rev. Father Fullerton officiating. Mr. John Constance acted as godfather, Miss Mattie Genova O'Connell being godmother. The snowy robes in which the beautiful child was christened were exquisitely fashioned, the event having been as pretty as it was impressive.

THE PROGRESS CLUB ENTERTAINED LAST NIGHT.
The usual weekly card party of the Progress Club occurred last night, a large number having been present at the jolly function. Euchre was indulged in until a late hour, those in attendance reporting a most enjoyable evening.

MRS. J. G. YNIESTRA ENTERTAINED YESTERDAY.
Mrs. J. G. Yniestra entertained the members of the Social Card Club yesterday afternoon at her home on Strong street, a pleasant event resulting from the efforts of the clever hostess. The ladies' ace was won by

EVERYTHING TO WEAR.

This woman says Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound saved her life. Read her letter.

Mrs. T. C. Willadsen, of Manning, Iowa, writes to Mrs. Pinkham:

"I can truly say that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound saved my life, and I cannot express my gratitude to you in words. For years I suffered with the worst forms of female complaints, continually doctoring and spending lots of money for medicine without help. I wrote you for advice, followed it as directed, and took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it has restored me to perfect health. Had it not been for you I should have been in my grave to-day. I wish every suffering woman would try it."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, or nervous prostration. Why don't you try it?

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

Mrs. J. J. McCarthy, the consolation by Mrs. Wm. Rock, the lone hand by Mrs. Dan Murphy, and the booby by Mrs. N. Soderquist. The feature of the afternoon was the unusually high score made by Mrs. Dan Murphy, who had 19 lone hands. The next meetings of the club will occur at the home of Mrs. Murphy on North Hayne street.

MR. AND MRS. B. J. GONZALEZ ENTERTAIN FOR DAUGHTER.
A pleasant informal gathering took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Gonzalez on Tuesday night, the event having been planned in honor of the youngest daughter of the household, Miss Violet.

Miss Violet, who is a clever amateur artist, received the compliment prettily, the evening having been one of much enjoyment for all present. Music was furnished by Vice Consul Diaz, Abraham Diaz and by Miss Harz.

WOMAN'S MISSIONARY SOCIETY TO MEET.
The Woman's Missionary Society of the East Hill Baptist church will meet at the home of Mrs. Doris Donaldson on Ninth avenue this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

All the ladies of the church are cordially invited to be in attendance, as an interesting afternoon has been arranged.

PASTIME EUCHE CLUB MEET WITH MRS. RADY.
Mrs. Bessie Radly was hostess last night at a meeting of the Pastime Euchre Club held at her home on Belmont street. A full membership was in attendance, the evening having passed off in an exceptionally pleasant manner.

FORBES-BASS WEDDING THIS MORNING.
The climax of a brilliant social week in local circles will be reached this when, at 11:30 o'clock, the marriage of Mr. Jas. Forbes, of Hopkinsville, Kentucky, and Miss Dixie Bass, of this city, will occur at the First Baptist church. Out of town guests have been arriving yesterday and today to witness the event, and there is much interest evinced, of course, in the local set in which Miss Bass has always been characterized as a leader.

MRS. C. S. BONACKER WILL ENTERTAIN TODAY.
A pleasant event will occur at the home of Mrs. C. S. Bonacker this afternoon when the members of the New City Flinch Club will meet, and assist her in the celebration of her birthday. The date upon which Mrs. Bonacker was to have regularly entertained the club, fortunately fell on the interesting date, and a fact which will serve to make the afternoon's event doubly pleasant.

MRS. G. A. WATERMAN WILL BE HOSTESS.
Mrs. G. A. Waterman will be hostess at a delightful function this evening which will take the form of a bridge party, and will be given in honor of her charming visitor, Miss Parkerson, of New Orleans.

ENTERTAIN IN HONOR OF SCHOOL MATE.
Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Beyer of North Hayne street entertained at dinner on Tuesday night, the event having been given in honor of a school mate of Mrs. Beyer, Mr. S. S. Brown, of Chicago. The affair, which was a most pleasant one, abounded in pleasant reminiscences, and proved a happy little event from many standpoints. Mr. Jerome left last night for Chicago.

"SCHOOL DAYS" WRITTEN BY LOCAL AUTHOR.
"School Days," the bright little operette which is being staged by local talent, the cast of which will be composed of local talent, and the proceeds of which, moreover, will go toward aiding the Junior Gardeners in bettering local conditions, has a new and pleasing feature in having been written for the "gardeners" by a local author, who has added an interesting local touch which will be irresistible to Pensacola people. There is plenty of fun, plenty of mischief, and some interesting and ridiculous situations, which are, above all, cleverly true to life in every respect. "School Days," in fact, is catchy and sure to please, and there is every indication that the event, which is to occur at the opera house on the 20th, will be among the real hits of the present season.

COMPLIMENTARY DANCE AT THE OSCEOLA TONIGHT.
Mrs. R. F. Mitchell will be hostess at a dance to be given at the Osceola club tonight in compliment to her three guests, Misses Coachman and Munnerlyn, of Jacksonville. A number of the local smart set have been asked, and the affair is anticipated with much pleasure by those who will be in attendance.

IMPORTANT MEETING WILL OCCUR TODAY.
The Y. M. C. A. parlors will be the scene of unusual activity this afternoon when, at 4 o'clock, the Civic League will hold its regular meeting. Valuable plans are to be discussed, reports of committees considered, and a great deal of business disposed of during the afternoon.

TOMORROW WILL BE "MUM" SHOW.
A world of activity is noticeable today among local chrysanthemum enthusiasts, who will be among tomorrow's exhibitors at the first annual chrysanthemum show to be held by the School Improvement Association in the Keyser building opposite the court house. Already several individual exhibitors are ready for tomorrow, and a large amount of interest is being shown in the affair.

NORTH HILL GREENERY ATTRACTS ATTENTION.
Among the pretty sights to be witnessed about Pensacola nowadays is the North Hill greenery, where quantities of the late autumn flowers are being shown by many who visit the attractive place in order to view the striking collection. Some beautiful chrysanthemums have been grown, which are attracting much attention.

LOCAL LADIES GROW CHRYSANTHEMUMS.
Among the pretty pursuits for women, and one which has found much favor with the ladies of this city, is the cultivation of the gorgeous flower of the early autumn time, the chrysanthemum. Scarcely a more graceful or dainty out-door exercise could be imagined for midday, who looks charming as she fluffs with the real work necessary for the cultivation of her beautiful flower beds, and who is regarded as nothing short of an angel when, after a year of care and anxiety, she is able to present great flaming bouquets of the fluffy "mums" to her friends—especially to her sick friends, and to those who rarely have the time and fortune to stop for the beautiful things of the world.

Only the very dainty and highly refined little lady is given to the cultivation of these beautiful chrysanthemum beds, and it is needless to say that Pensacola has many of these pretty flower goddesses which nestle about some of the most attractive homes in the city.

THE BROWNING CLUB HAS INTERESTING SUBJECT.
At the next meeting of the Browning Club, Nov. 21, the subject of discussion will be the dramatic poem "Childe Roland to the Dark Tower Came."

This is one of the most wonderful poems in the English language. We have the authority of Mr. Browning himself that the poem is not an allegory, but dramatic incident based on a line from Shakespeare. Yet, its vivid imagery, its profound exposition of life, have proved so great a stimulus to the imagination that it is probably the most talked of work of the poet. The central thought of the poem will be the basis of the discussion, and it is expected that each member will have determined this for herself before the meeting, recalling the remark of Prof. Moulton that "in the study of literature, or art in any form, the meaning is what it means to you."

PERSONAL MENTION.
Miss Annie Bear of Milton, has been spending a short sojourn in the city.

Dr. J. H. Bickertstaff, who has been taking a post graduate course in New York, is expected home this week.

Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Hyer, Jr., and Miss Louise Quinn will spend the next few weeks in New York city.

Mrs. Henry White is improving after her recent illness.

Mrs. Sidney Bell is reported as much improved, after her recent illness. Mrs. Bell is popular among a large list of local friends who will be pleased to learn of her recovery.

Mrs. George F. Jones and Miss Jo

sophie Holliland will leave today for Ferry Pass, where they will be the guests of friends.

Mr. E. M. Lovelace of Brewton, is in the city, spending a few days among local acquaintances.

Contractor and Mrs. C. W. Pease and little daughter will leave today for Barrancas, where they will take up their residence while Mr. Pease is engaged in certain work at the post. Mr. and Mrs. Pease are from Atlanta, and have been at the "Mayfield."

SHE WANTS NONE BETTER.
The housekeeper who once tries Blue Ribbon Vanilla is satisfied. She wants none better. There is none better.

DANCE AND EUCHE.

At I. O. O. F. Hall, Friday, Nov. 13, given by Naomi Rebekah Lodge No. 10. The tickets bought the previous week remain good. Admission, 25 cents.

FOR THE NECK.
Furs will be used extensively this season—in the north where they are actually needed, and in the Sunny South where they are mainly for ornamenting stunning street costumes and evening wraps. Pensacola shops are already showing an attractive array of neck pieces, muffs, however, being almost out of the question in the local climate.

Among the neck furs there is this season more novelty than usual. The woman who has a sable collar of last year's type or a heavy fox neck fur on the regulation order will wear the treasured possession with calm assurance that her collar is correct, if not the latest fashion, but, generally speaking, the modish neck furs now take on the director collar form or lie flatly over the shoulders in shapes suggesting the shawl.

Never did a fashion in furs afford more opportunity for the utilizing of old small furs than does the little close high collar which is the fad of the moment, and many of the smartest collars contain but scraps of fur, the greater part of the model being made up of velvet, satin and ruching of one sort or another. Of course, there is everything in the way this little arrangement is put together, but any clever woman can, after careful study of the imported collars, select her materials and, with the help of some furrier, or perhaps even without his aid, manufacture a fair duplicate of some admired model.

The general lines of these collars follow those of the lighter ruches worn during the summer, a tight, high band clasping the throat snugly, with a ruche at top and perhaps at bottom, and a knot and end of satin velvet or what one will at the side or back. Naturally in the furs this shape means excessive warmth and fastening at neck or side. The collar is not easily worn open or loosened, as furs opening at front are. The throat specialists bid fair to reap a harvest during the coming winter, but it is the mode, and a most piquant mode it is when it is becoming at all. Only the long slender throat can stand the straight collar and high ruches, but charitable designers occasionally make concession to the women not blessed with swan-like throats and one finds some delectable little models in ermine, breitchswanz, etc., which open in front rather than at the back or at the side.

One such collar, for example, is in ermine. It is quite high in the back and fits the throat closely, but in front it slopes down under the chin and the two short ends cross at the point of crossing being worked by two black satin buttons embroidered with gold and two imitation buttonholes of black satin. The ends are pointed and fall on a short distance below the point where they cross. Around the top of the collar runs a triple ruche, or rather three full platings, the outer one of black satin, the next of gold net and the one next the throat of fine white lace. These are all deep in the back, but narrow down toward the front until they slope to mere narrow lines just under the chin.

A similar shape in fine mink, instead of crossing in two tails, ends at the point of fastening beneath the chin in a cluster of pendent tails.

The brown furs are much liked for the building of the small collars and are combined with velvets matching costume in hat in color. The gold and brown, the gold and black, the gold and orange, are especially effective in such combinations, and gold net frills with inner frills of dreams, lace or silk mouseline or net, are often used for finishing the top of the collar, though brown net matching the dark tone of the fur may be used in place of the gold or with the latter.

SOME TIMELY DON'TS.
Don't wear bright colored gloves. Every year dealers import a great many pink, blue, green and other gayly colored gloves as novelties for exhibition purposes, but the well-dressed woman never wears them.

Don't buy any cretonne trimmings. They were a fad that came in with the warm weather and went out before the summer was half over. The fashion is absolutely dead. Brocade has replaced cretonne for vestings.

Don't cut handsome material up into a twenty-three-gored skirt. If your cloth is handsome and of fine texture select a four or seven-gored pattern.

Don't buy brilliant colored fabrics for winter clothes. Everything that is new has a faded hue.

Don't wear long gloves over the long sleeves now so fashionable. With such sleeves should be worn a two-button glove.

Don't pull your belt line down to a point in the front. Everything that is worn with a belt must be round and rather short waisted.

Don't wear pale pink and blue tulle and chiffon ruffles with heavy tailored suits.

Don't wear your veils hanging loose at the back of the head. Veils are pinned tightly over the hat and ends are tucked out of sight.

Don't wear artificial flowers pinned on your furs.

Don't have more than one sash on a dress. Many women have ruined the effect of a good dress by having a sash about the waist, one draped

Danderine

EVERYBODY CAN HAVE BEAUTIFUL HAIR NOW, and they don't have to wait weeks and months for results either. You will notice marked improvement after the very first application.

Grows Hair and we can PROVE IT!

Danderine is quickly and thoroughly absorbed by the scalp and the hair soon shows the effects of its wonderfully exhilarating and life-producing qualities. It is pleasant and easy to use—simply apply it to the scalp and hair once a day until the hair begins to grow, then two or three times a week till desired results are obtained.

A lady from California writes in substance as follows: "I have been using your wonderful hair tonic for several months and at last I am now blessed with a wonderful suit of hair that measures over 48 inches in length; the hair is over 8 inches around."

Another from New Jersey: "After using sixth bottle I am happy to say that I have as much a head of hair as anyone in New Jersey."

This Great Hair-Growing Remedy can now be had at all druggists in three sizes, 25c, 50c and $1.00 per bottle.

Free To show how quickly Danderine acts, we will send a large sample free by return mail to anyone who sends this free coupon to the
